SLCC receives Child Care grant from U.S. Department of Education

Salt Lake Community College has been awarded a $300,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Education that will enable the school to provide improved child care services at the college's South City campus.

The grant provides funds to offer full-day child care and evening drop-in care at the South City Child Care Center. SLCC will provide care at the center using a need-based sliding fee scale. As a result, low-income student parents will have accessible and affordable child care at SLCC's primary urban campus.

This grant significantly enhances SLCC's ability to provide quality, open access educational offerings to Utah's students. SLCC is uniquely situated to serve student parents. The College has a 60 year history of offering more than 120 degree, certificate, and apprenticeship programs. Utah's only open access institution of higher education, SLCC maintains the lowest tuition and fees in a 100-mile radius of Utah's most densely populated region.
