

Designated Service-Learning Classes

Service-learning is a high-impact practice that enhances course learning outcomes and student engagement while also addressing community-identified needs. Service-learning incorporates critical reflective thinking and civic engagement into academic coursework by means of integrating service opportunities with nonprofits, governmental, and/or educational community partners. Check below all classes that are taught with service-learning. Please note only one lead-instructor is list for courses that show "all instructor". Please contact that faculty for information on the course.
