The Skills Center offers three levels of ESL leading to vocational training or college level classes. No minimum English proficiency is required to enter ESL classes. However, a placement test is given to determine the level at which a student should begin. Placement tests are arranged at the time students seek to register for the program. Students participate in the Skills Center Integrated Learning (SCIL) Lab which focuses on the individual needs of the students. ESL classes include intensive practice in reading, writing, grammar, listening, vocabulary, pronunciation, conversation, and computer-aided instruction.
