- As of October 2013, the VA reached 1 million Veterans enrolled in school and using VA benefits
- New Projection is more than 1 million more in next 5 years

Military enrollment has historically been higher at schools near military bases and major VA hospitals
Student Veterans Are TRANSITIONING

Military Life
- Unit buddies are family
- Buddies have your back
- Unit is a supportive community
- Unit works together
- Commanders tell when & what to do
- Strict rules
- Being told when to do things
- Stay focused and alert for safety

Civilian Life
- Spouse/children/parents are family
- They feel no support & protection
- New community does not feel caring
- Everyone for themselves
- No-one tells you what to do
- Different rules or no rules at all
- Do things when you feel like it
- Should be relaxed and not worry
Be Culturally Sensitive
WHAT NOT TO SAY TO A VETERAN

- What was going to war like
- Did you see anyone die
- Did you kill anyone?
- Would you go back?
- How was Iraq/Afghanistan?
- How did you get injured?
- Are you opposed to the war?
- Are you okay (mentally)?
- That must have been hard…
- Thank you for what you did
- Did you lose any friends?
- Are you traumatized?
- Are you experiencing PTSD?
Be Culturally Sensitive
WHAT TO SAY...

- “Thank you for serving”
- “Thank you for your service to our country”
- “Welcome back”
- Thank their family for their service in supporting their Service-member

Ask questions that can get factual answers:
  - When did you get back?
  - What unit were you with?
  - What branch of the service are you/were you in?

- Don’t Pry. If they don’t want to talk don’t push it.
- Don’t go overboard in praise or thanks to the veteran.
- Simplicity is the key.
VETERANS...

- Are mature, committed and hard working
- Know the importance of finishing their education
- May experience college campus life as chaotic
- May get frustrated with bureaucracy
- Do not like getting the run around
- May not be comfortable with people standing behind them
- Have an instant connection between military members
- May have Doctor appointments that cannot change

AND

Are also like other students in many ways
Look At Veterans As You Would Any Special Population

1. They are a minority population on campus
2. Re-entry into civilian/academic life is challenge
3. The Military has their own vocabulary
4. Have special needs such as need to decompress
5. Strict rules for use of benefits
6. Many Veterans have a disability
   Temporary or permanent
7. They experience benefits from connection with other military peers
8. Lack of knowledge of benefits- succeed when supported
Veterans, Dependents and Active Duty Military members may be eligible for one or more different types of benefits. Benefits vary depending on when and where they served and if Active Duty or Reserve/National Guard. Each institution has a school representative responsible for knowing all the different rules for using and processing VA benefits. That is your School Certifying Official.
BE A RESOURCE
Do You Know
Who your School Certifying Official IS?
SCO Is Responsible To

- Ensure veteran register for classes required for graduation
- Notify VA within 30 days if a student drops or withdraws
- Must report the Last Date of Attendance for changes
  - If you are contacted for verification of LDA, please quickly respond
- Certify to the VA classes students registered in are eligible
- Monitor payments from the VA to the College
- Be a liaison for the Veteran with the College departments, VA benefit and health care system, State VA Office, DOD, DVA, VA Education, VA Debt Management and more

Contact your SCO if you have concerns or if Veteran is having attendance or behavior problems in class
Be A Resource for Veterans

THINGS THAT ARE IMPORTANT TO UNDERSTAND

• VA rules are often difficult, rigid and frustrating
• Don’t use military lingo to attempt to connect or joke with a veteran
• Careless comments or questions can trigger painful memories or flashbacks
• Not all Veterans have PTSD, but even those that do can function fine in the classroom
• Refrain from identifying a student as a Veteran in class unless they self identify first
• Veterans will share their story with you if they trust you
Enhance feelings of comfort in the classroom and in testing setting (e.g., quiet, less crowded). Know your school resources to assist.

Recognize that some individuals will be most comfortable in the back of a classroom near an exit door. Do not perceive this as disinterest. This position may enable them to better attend and learn.

Veterans have medical appointments scheduled months in advance which may impact course attendance. Be willing to work with them.

If your student is National Guard or Reserve they may have trainings or deployments. Work with them to complete their course work.

Tell them exactly what you want and to keep it simple.

Include a statement about accommodations for Veterans for ways to make arrangements for medical appointments, training, unexpected leaves of absence, or other needs related to adjustment issues.
Veterans And Their VA Educational Benefits

- Rules for using benefits are very rigid
- Veterans are only paid for Required classes
- Veterans normally have 36 months only of benefits to complete their education
- Navigating the bureaucracy of the VA and College/University can be frustrating and chaotic
- VA rules for using benefits change impacting the Veteran
- Many Veterans have a job, family and attend school
- If required classes are not available Veterans experience a reduction in their monthly pay and some may lose all benefits for the semester
An instructor told their students that if they didn't finish their work they would line them up against the wall and shoot them.

--In Iraq, this veteran came upon the scene of a mass execution by the Government of Iraq done in this method.

As an assignment in an art class, an instructor had the students bring to mind a painful memory - think about it - feel your emotions again - what do you see or smell? Now, draw a picture of the event.

--This assignment put the veteran in a state of fear and distress. He said “There is a reason we bury those memories so deep.”

A veteran had been injured by a IED in Iraq and his buddies were killed. When he returned a student asked him how he lost his leg.

--This brought back the memories and pain of the blast and loss of buddies. The veteran said he did not know why he lived and his buddies died. He felt he should have died too.
VETERAN FRIENDLY
IT IS MORE THAN A PLAQUE ON THE WALL
Create A Veteran Friendly Campus

- Track admissions of Veterans to stay connected to them
- Send a letter from the school’s administration to all new Veterans welcoming them to your school
- Create a welcoming center for Veterans
- Provide space and events where Veterans can connect with other student-Veterans
- Consider allowing veterans to register for class early
- Allow more time for veterans to pay tuition - when their pay from the VA is released
- Create a Veterans Committee to determine students needs and improve services and support for your veterans
Let your Veterans and Military members know they are important on campus in many ways

• Provide workshops to assist them in school and life
  – Financial Awareness, Study Skills, Stress Management, Resume Writing, Employment preparation
• Plan an orientation for new Veterans
• Educate faculty, staff, and administration about student-veterans issues
• Provide veterans’ a needs survey to determine their needs
• Participate in the VA Work-Study Program
• Provide quality programs and events for Veterans

INNITAL OBSERVATIONS
Before creation of SLCC Veterans Center

• Veterans were uncomfortable and kept checking behind them when using general student computers
• Veterans wanted to talk about personal issues
• Veterans enjoyed talking to other Veterans
• One most asked question was ‘what branch of service did you serve in and when did you serve’
• The veterans wanted to connect with each other but there was not space for them to talk
• When asked why they dropped out of school, they said it was because of finances and because they felt they did not belong
Steps SLCC Took To Address Concerns

- Identified who were OUR veterans
  - Need to understand the military culture
- Planned the components in the center around that culture
  - The study area and computer bank
  - A place to gather and support each other
  - Veterans Lounge to allow veteran to study and decompress
  - Veterans Services Office Area to support students
- Arranged for outside services to come on campus
- Created opportunities for community outreach providers creating connection and additional support for veterans
CREATE A SPACE FOR VETS TO RELAX, STUDY OR VISIT

Veterans know they can come into the lounge and study, watch TV or sleep. The Center provides space for them to decompress between classes.
SLCC VETERAN SUPPORT

Assist with College- Admission to Graduation

Assist with VA requirements and support
